Slaughter Valley

In the heart of the mountains, explorers have discovered an abandoned valley with some forests and a small mountainrange in it's center.

The scientists of Nova Inc. claimed this valley for „evaluating purposes“ and have been testing their armed vehicles in this valley since. From three sides of the valley the vehicles are controlled.

The volcano in the very center of the valley is known to contain highly explosive raw materials. So whenever there is a bomb needed, there will be a team working directly on the volcano to ensure a neverending supply on bombs.
